

Revision Styles

What works best for you?	Tried it, works for me	Tried it, doesn't work	Might try it	Wouldn't work
copying notes out more than once organising notes using columns, categories, tables, spider diagrams, etc writing notes on cards, posters, etc. and spread around room discussing concepts and ideas with a friend repeating facts or quotations aloud learning while walking/moving around focusing while sitting at desk working in my room working in a library/elsewhere using mnemonics learning with background music learning in silence recopying notes in different colours carving revision periods up into small chunks with lots of breaks studying in larger blocks and taking longer breaks studying after exercise cramming before the exam building knowledge up gradually, reviewing day-by-day				